

Citizen-Driven Research: Supporting Older People to Live in the Community When They Have Complex Health and Social Care Needs

Elliot Paus Jenssen and Elaine Moody

SPOR Evidence Alliance

Strategy for Patient-Oriented Research

Alliance pour des données probantes de la SRAP

Stratégie de recherche axée sur le patient

DALHOUSIE
UNIVERSITY

Our Goal:

To synthesize research that has reported on the effectiveness of complex interventions to support older people with complex health and social care needs to remain in the community

1. Population

What group of people are we most interested in?

2. Interventions

What could be done to support them?

3. Effectiveness and Outcomes

How will we know if they work well?

4. Process

What are we doing differently with this project?

Population

What group of people are we most interested in?

Intervention

What could be done to support them?

Effectiveness and Outcomes

How will we know if they work well?

Process

What are we doing differently with this project?

STRATEGY FOR PATIENT ORIENTED RESEARCH (SPOR) EVIDENCE ALLIANCE: A Canadian Model to Build Learning Health Systems

Our experience in a series of four papers.

View Now

<https://sporevidencealliance.ca/>

An aerial photograph of a residential neighborhood featuring numerous brick houses with tiled roofs. The houses are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some featuring bay windows and small front gardens. The overall scene is a typical suburban housing estate.

QUESTIONS
